WILKES AND SILK SOX MEET

Unless the published accounts of the strength of the Nevada team are misleading, the Utah university will have the hardest game on its hands next. Thursday that was ever experienced by a local team. The Californian, published by the University of California, had nothing but praise for the Nevada team after its game with the champion Berkeley eleven. According to the Culifornian's account of the game, Nevada put up a strong game, and played the home team to a standstill during the first half. Special praise is given Cash Smith, Nevada's giant guard, Unless the published accounts of the arrength of the Nevada team are misseading, the Utah university will have the hardest game on its hands next ine hardest game on its hands next incomplete the complete the comp Unless the published accounts of the team, and the report of disbanding for the season is denied. The boys say if they get a chance to play the University they will be only too willing to get into shape to meet it. Manager Riser has promised the Christians a game this year, and in all probability the teams will meet after Thanksgiving. The Y. M. C. A. eggregation has never been defeated by a varsity eleven, and has met them nearly every season for the past ten years. The present university team is the strongest that ever represented that institution, and their many friends think they can defeat the Christians. Parti-

Fremonts Refuse to Play.

A game between the Lincolns and Fremonts was played yesterday, in which the latter team left the field and the Lincolns claimed the game by defauit. Peter Smith of the Lincolns was injured in the game, whereupon Clayton was substituted. The Femonts would not stand for the change and left the field. Up until this time the Fremonts had scored twenty points and the Lincolns ten. The line-up of the Lincolns was as follows: Fulmer, fullback; Clayton, right haifback; Hennessy, left halfback; Swan, center; Orsen, right guard; Burt, right tackle; Watsin, right end; Smith, left guard; McGill, left tackle; Nichols, left end; Love, quarterback.
